

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

53. WILLIAM GARROTT BROWN. A List of Portraits in the Various Buildings of Harvard University.

INTRODUCTORY NOTE.

THIS list has been prepared at the request of the President of the University and under the direction of the late Justin Winsor, Librarian and Keeper of the University Records. Mr. Winsor's interest in the University's collections of portraits had been manifested already; it was chiefly due to him that the series of articles on "Harvard Portraits" in the Graduates' Magazine was undertaken, and he himself contributed the paper on Savage's Washington. The portrait of an historical personage was in his view an historical document. It is not surprising, therefore, that he wished to emphasize the biographical interest of the various pieces, particularly in the case of those men who have had to do with the upbuilding of the University or who have in any wise touched its life; both as Librarian and as President of the Memorial Society he gave unsparingly of his time and energy to Harvard's history and traditions. His wish has been followed in the list by subjects. The list by buildings and the list of artists have been added to satisfy a different sort of interest in the collections.

A careful examination of the portraits themselves has supplied much of the information set forth in the lists; and I can only regret that, since I have no especial knowledge of portraiture as an art, I could not make the examination critical. The facts given in the biographical summaries were obtained from so many sources that it would be tedious and unedifying to mention them. My object has not been to give a complete statement either of the offices or the honors that belonged to the persons to whom the University has given space on its walls, but only to set down such notable facts concerning each of them as may serve to explain his presence in the group. Many officers of the University have helped me to information which I might otherwise have missed, and I am glad to acknowledge their assistance; I am especially indebted to Mr. Arnold, of the Law Library, and Mr. Morison, of the Divinity Library, and to all who have read the proofs.

It will be noticed that only painters, sculptors, and engravers are named in the list of artists. I have thought that those who may examine the list with a view to the artistic quality rather than the biographical value of the pieces would be better served in this way than if artists of a lesser sort, like lithographers, were included. In the first list, however, everything in the nature of a portrait has been included, provided it has a place which it bids fair to occupy permanently. Those who may wish to use this Contribution as one uses an ordinary catalogue in a museum of art should remember that occasionally portraits are moved from room to room or from building to building; a number of oil paintings which were in Memorial Hall when I first saw them are now in the Faculty Room in University Hall. Moreover, new pieces are constantly being placed, and the list has doubtless lost its completeness while it has been making. The portraits in one department of the University—the Museum of Comparative Zoölogy—have not been listed at all, being the private property of the Director.

Mr. Winsor purposed to supervise the printing of the list, which is doubtless the last publication of the Library that can lay claim to his planning. His absence in Europe, and then his death, delayed its appearance. How much better it might have been if he had lived can be conjectured by those who knew his tirelessness and his marvellous familiarity with the minute details of the lives of many men. I once asked him a question about a New England family of no national importance, and his reply was a hasty pencil sketch of a family tree, showing the births and marriages of a century; it was the work of a minute, without a glance at any source of information.
